

Common Reed Western North America Temperate Semi-natural Herbaceous Vegetation (Map Code 35)

Location: Only two large patches of Phragmites australis were observed in the Refuge, one in the large drainage near the entryway and the other in Wyasket Bottom. Phragmites australis is observed occasionally in the Refuge, intermixed with other emergent plant species, or growing along dikes and levees.

Signature: This type was very limited at Ouray and no consistent signature was needed for mapping. The signature does appear to be slightly pink with white undertones. No texture was evident.
